Coronavirus scare hits city tourism

Tourists wearing masks entering Mysore Palace through Varaha Gate this morning as a masked Policeman looks on.

Mysuru, Mar. 8 (RK&BCT)- March-April is a peak time for Indians and foreigners to make travel plans. It is Spring in the northern hemisphere with a pleasant weather in many countries. In a few days, exams will also be over and schools will break for holidays. For the travel and tourism industry, the coronavirus or COVID-19 outbreak couldn't have come at a worse time.

People are cancelling their pre-booked tickets and postponing their plans. With the numbers of deaths and infections climbing in many countries. Some tour operators say that the only thing that is travelling right now is the virus itself.

Star of Mysore spoke to a few people from the travel industry in city including Bharat International Travels, Travel Parkz, Skyway, Segue Travel and Tours, Safe Wheels Tours and Travels, Travel Mart and Travel Next Care to know about the impact of coronavirus outbreak on travel plans and their business. And they say that it is not just a scare, but real, where the tourism industry is hit hard. Tour operators say that both domestic (inter-city and inter-state) and international tourists have cancelled their trips. "Tourism industry in Mysuru has been hit badly as COVID-19 has affected industry travel, yoga travel and tours to pilgrimage centres.

"A lot of people have backed out and cancelled their plans due to coronavirus. People are even afraid to visit the places that are not affected. They are scared that the virus is everywhere, so, they are postponing their travel plans," said B.S. Prashanth of Safe Wheels.

In Mysuru, there are over 750 tourist vehicles with 750 drivers. Tourist footfall to hotels and amusement parks has come down drastically. "People who had booked tickets are cancelling their trips and there are no new bookings since the last fortnight," Prashanth added.

Women's Day today: Mysuru Zoo leads the way

Mysuru, Mar. 8 (LNY&BCT)- When Deepa Kumari finished her PUC, she did not have an inclination that one day she would be driving battery-operated vehicles at Mysuru Zoo. Discontinuing her education and coming from an agrarian background, life was not easy for this resident of Bannur.

Now, her life is headed in a new direction with Deepa serving as a driver of a battery-operated vehicle at the Sri Chamarajendra Zoological Gardens, popular as Mysuru Zoo. She is among the two women recruited to drive the battery-operated vehicles that take visitors around the Zoo, spread over 78 acres.

The other woman is Shabreen Taj, a resident of Nazarbad. Both the women are proud of their jobs and have received accolades from tourists for their professionalism and polite attitude.

PARTNERS IN ARMS: Shabreen Taj (left) and Deepa Kumari who drive the battery-operated buggies at Mysuru Zoo.

"After PUC, there was a big question mark on my future. I learnt through my brother about the vacancies in Zoo to operate battery vehicles. The best part was that the Zoo preferred women to drive the vehicles. I had a Driving Licence and I thought this is my chance to get the job. I applied and passed the test and today I am in front of you," Deepa says.

She reports to work by 8.30 am and her duties end at 5.30 pm. Tuesdays, when the Zoo is closed, is her day off. The two battery cars that are charged overnight are assembled near the ticket counter and from 9 am, she has to drive the Zoo visitors around.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

We nurse a number of phobias that are unwarranted. The word 'injection' was a nightmare for me during my childhood. Even after I grew up, surgery remained a phobia. The sight of patients being taken to operation theatres turned my blood cold. The scenes reminded me of hapless animals being pushed to the slaughter-house. I couldn't imagine myself being carried in a wheeled table to the operation theatre. The moment the urologist told me I had to undergo surgery, my state of mind was that of a condemned prisoner who was to go to the gallows. As the date of the proposed surgery approached, the rate of my tension increased. As I had no other option but to face reality, I started preparing mentally for it. I underwent the preparatory tests, as was advised. Ultimately the D-Day came. I was made to wear a gown and taken in a rolling table to the operation theatre. The rolling table moved slowly through the long corridor, reached the theatre and I was shifted to another table. The anaesthetist gave me an assuring smile that gave me courage. I was asked to turn and bend so that the injections could be given on the back. After a number of injections there, I was told another injection would be given on the right hand. I felt the syringe piercing my flesh. When I woke up, I was lying in a wheeled table in another corner of the operation theatre. I asked a nearby nurse whether surgery was over. She answered in the affirmative. It gave me great relief. The episode made me realise that many of our fears and reservations are unwarranted. — P.K. Gokulapalan in The New Indian Express

Cat owners trick her by creating fake warm lap to sit on

London: Ziggy the cat was taken home from a London shelter by Rebecca May and her husband three years ago and it didn't take long for Ziggy to settle in her new place and show just how affectionate she is.

Anyone who sits down will quickly find a cat in their lap, and if there isn't one to be found, Ziggy will balance on backs, arms and shoulders to be close to her human friends.

Rebecca's husband came up with the genius plan to give her the lap she so longed for, as reported by The Dodo. He stuffed a pair of trousers to create legs and hid a heating pad in the lap to recreate the feel of warmth, adding a pair of trainers for feet and a pillow for the stomach.

And it did the trick. Ziggy now snuggles into her fake lap, where she remains while the humans are busy.

Man floods his entire bathroom with orbeez

Paris: A French YouTuber caused all sorts of trouble after his bathroom stunt went very, very wrong.

Cyril Schreiner decided to fill his bath with orbeez - silicone balls that expand in water - for his latest online video. But it didn't exactly go according to plan.

Assuming that he hadn't thought the clean-up process or considered scooping them of the bathtub - he decided to pull the plug on the operation at which point the jelly balls filled the pipes and started coming back up through the toilet and sink. It was at this moment Cyril realised he messed up.

Fan @yuqheis created a Twitter thread documenting the events which has since received more than 800,000 likes and 230,000 retweets.

Realtor murder case

Prime accused Basavaraj surrenders before Court

Remanded to judicial custody

Mysuru, Mar. 8 (RK&KS)- A day after Anand, a realtor was murdered in a Service Apartment at Kuvempunagar, his friend, identified as Basavaraj, has surrendered before a Court in city yesterday.

Basavaraj, the prime accused in the murder of Anand, who came to the District and Sessions Court at about 3 pm along with his lawyer, surrendered before the Court and has been remanded to judicial custody by the Judge. Following the Judge's order, City Armed Reserve (CAR) Police took him to the Central Prison and handed him over to the Prison authorities.

Kuvempunagar Inspector Raju, who had registered the case, had launched a hunt to nab the killer and Basavaraj, who feared of being arrested by the Police, appeared before the Court yesterday afternoon along with his lawyer and surrendered before the Judge.

DCP (Law and Order) A.N. Prakash Gowda said that the Police would seek the custody of Basavaraj for further interrogation and would appeal the Court on Monday. A massive hunt was lodged to trace and nab the killers by the Police. But the prime accused has surrendered before the Judge on Saturday, the DCP said.

Basavaraj

It may be recalled that the blood stained body of Anand alias Vadda Anand (40), a resident of Janatanagar, who was a realtor, financier and a small-time politician, was found in a Service Apartment at Kuvermpunagar in the wee hours of Mar. 6.

According to preliminary investigation conducted by the Police, Anand celebrated his 40th birthday on Mar. 5 and had organised a party at a function hall at the foot of Chamundi Hill at 7 pm where hundreds of people had dinner along with liquor and non-vegetarian food.

The party continued till 11 pm and later Anand called up the owner of the Service Apartment on Lalithadri Road near Lava Kusha Park in Kuvempunagar and booked a room on the second floor of the apartment.

Police said that Anand and his six or seven friends (two of them identified as Basavaraju and Srinivas) reached the apartment room at midnight and again began drinking.

The next day morning, his body was found with multiple stabs at the apartment.

The killer had stabbed with beer bottle and vegetable scraper on Anand's stomach, back and shoulder.

Row over site and financial feud led to murder?

Financial feud pertaining to a site had led to the murder of Anand, it is learnt.

Anand

Sources said that prime accused Basavaraj, who was the neighbour of deceased Anand at Janatanagar, had purchased an auto and was eking out a living. Basavaraj later had bought four more autos and had given them on rent.

With the money collected through rents, Basavaraj had opened an office by name Isiri Enterprises in a 'B Kharab' land behind Tirumala Temple on Maruthi Tent Road and was conducting chits and packaged water business. As there was vacant space behind his office, Basavaraj had told six of his friends including Anand to invest Rs. 2 lakh each, purchase the vacant space, sell the same for higher price and share the money among themselves. As one of Anand's aide did not agree to Basavaraj's proposal, wordy duel ensued between Basavaraj and Anand's aide, which led to a fight two months ago.

As Anand did not support Basavaraj and was telling Basavaraj that he would alone purchase the vacant space and build a commercial complex, Basavaraj had plotted to take revenge.

Basavaraj, who was angered over Anand's idea of buying the property alone and also for interfering in his business, waited for an opportunity and killed Anand on his birthday on Friday night, sources added.

DCP asks personnel to keep a watch on Service Apartments

Mysuru, Mar. 8 (RK&BCT)- Deputy Commissioner of Police (Law and Order) A.N. Prakash Gowda has asked all Police Stations in city to keep a close watch on Service Apartments in their jurisdiction for illegal activities.

He has asked Policemen and officers to personally visit each of them to collect details and take steps to prevent crimes and illegal activities.

Yesterday, Star of Mysore had published a report "Realtor's murder brings Service Apartments under radar" on the front page where the report had highlighted how some Service Apartments in city have become a haven for illegal activities including gambling, prostitution and late-night liquor parties.

The report was published a day after 40-year-old Anand, a resident of Janatanagar in city, was murdered by his friends in a drunken stupor due to old rivalry where he was stabbed multiple times by broken beer bottles on the day of his birthday. The murder was committed in the wee hours of Mar. 6 at a Service Apartment on Lalithadri Road near Lava Kusha Park at Kuvempunagar.

Star of Mysore report had highlighted the mushrooming of Service Apartments in areas including Kuvempunagar, Ramakrishnanagar, Dattagalli, Sharadadevinagar, Gokulam, Vivekanandanagar, Vijayanagar, Hebbal and Chamundi Hill Road.

There is a lack of rules to govern and monitor such apartments and is an easy-money business for owners as apartments do not come under hotel business category or under commercial business category.

Following the publication of the report, in a written order, DCP Prakash Gowda has stated that all Police Stations must keep a watch on certain homes that have been converted into Service Apartments and actual Service Apartments where guests can book rooms through online and offline system.

"It has come to the notice that some apartments are providing space for people to indulge in drinking session thereby creating nuisance and leading to crime, prostitution and gambling. All Police Stations have to keep a watch on such accommodation facilities and personally inspect them to collect details to prevent such activities. Frequent inspections must be done by jurisdictional Police officer to prevent a law and order situation," the DCP's note said.

VOICE OF THE READER

Plea to stop further devastation of Kodagu

Sir,

Apropos "Impact of Government Order permitting land conversion in Kodagu" (SOM dated 14.2.2020), let me share my own first-hand experience. I have visited cities like Shimla, Kulu, Manali etc., rivers and valleys like Parvathi, Kulu and different lakes of Himachal Pradesh from time to time, noticing the painful changes towards the worst side by indiscriminate human activity, by drastic deforestation, roads and resorts turning the green environment into concrete jungles.

To be more clear, 'where once silence used to whisper' in the same terrain is now converted into a combined polluted lot chocking with traffic jams.

It is a common sight of vehicles falling into deep gorges which cannot be even salvaged many a time because of unplanned, caving-in of roads and landslides.

Landslides were not that rampant and frequent earlier because roots of trees held the soil hard. Like watching weather forecast before hand while moving, one has to be familiar about the landslide that may take place which blocks the roads, without getting stranded in the midway in hostile weather conditions risking ourselves.

Landslides, movement of a mass of rocks, debris, earth or soil but the impact is extensive including property damage, injury, mutilation and even death and adversely affecting a variety of natural resources like forests, blocking of streams and rivers resulting in deviated floods gushing into human habitation, damaging infrastructure like water supply (including underground water flow also), availability of both qualitative and quantitative potable water, sewage disposal systems affecting health, dams, and roadways for years together which is also experienced in many parts of Kodagu recently.

This horrifying landslip occurs when shear stresses exceed the permissible resistance power to shearing strength under the direct influence of gravity.

All concerned should immediately stop further devastation of Kodagu which is most essential, inevitable and which is benefiting Cauvery, the lifeline of Karnataka, Tamil Nadu and Pondicherry through rain which also gets badly affected with deforestation.

Examination and related tension

Sir,

Come March, students are tense either with preparation for their examination or with the outcome of their performance. In many cases, we, as elders, compare our children with others to perform better. In the process, we are sowing hatred in their tender mind. We fail to understand that each child is unique and hence unable to identify the depth and impact of created tension within the child.

Sometimes, the child is forced to take extreme steps fearing punishment from elders. For them this is the best solution in life fearing harsh punishment from elders. We have read sufficient news items all these years on this issue.

Instead of creating tension in their minds, let us motivate the child by monitoring his/ her preparation by encouraging them to perform better. Examination is a stage to assess academic standard only and that is not everything in life.

Mahabalipuram, the cradle of architecture and sculpture

Recently our Prime Minister Narendra Modi dressed in typical attire of South India met the Chinese President Xi Jinping and discussed bi-lateral matters. Modiji chose Mahabalipuram for the talks. Most people have seen this in print and electronic media. What happened during their talk is not relevant as it has been covered by print and electronic media widely.

Mahabalipuram has a hoary antiquity and the monuments therein have become show-pieces of not only South Indian art but of the entire country. That is the reason why hundreds of tourists from foreign countries as well as our own country visit these monuments, admire the sculptures, pay handsome tributes to the architects and sculptors and also to the patrons of these marvellous art.

The monuments of Mahabalipuram became so famous that architects from Java, Cambodia and other countries were greatly influenced and this can be seen in the sculptures of those countries.

Mahabalipuram is just 38 kms from Chennai, on the banks of Bay of Bengal. It had various names such as Mallapuram, Mamallapuram, Thirukkadamalai etc. Not only it had beautiful monuments, it was also a great port and this has been evidenced by the discovery of a large number of Roman gold coins. This prosperous trade is also attested to by Sangam literature. The monuments of Mahabalipuram became so famous that architects from Java, Cambodia and other countries were greatly influenced by Mahabalipuram and this can be seen in the sculptures of those countries.

The most important attractions of Mahabalipuram are the monuments which are carved out of single stone, in addition to temples built in stone. These monuments look like rathas (chariots) and they are called pagodas. Perhaps these are influenced by the architectural creations of Western India.

At Mahabalipuram, on the shore of the sea there are five rathas — one is in the centre of the small hillock and three are there in the hillocks located in the West of Mahabalipuram. There are five rathas and they are Draupadi, Arjuna, Bhima, Nakula and Sahadeva. Hence, they are also called Pancha Pandava rathas and these bring to our mind the famous Mahabharata. There are many individual sculptures and also sculptural panels. Draupadi ratha looks like a hut in stone. Noteworthy sculpture is Goddess Durgadevi with four hands and in front of the temple is the sculpture of lion on which she sits.

The Arjuna ratha is at the Western side. It is a two-storeyed construction and has a mandapa. But there is no image in the garbhagriha. On the outer walls are found sculptures of human beings. Other noteworthy sculptures are door-keepers, Vishnu with Garuda, Indra sitting on his elephant Airavata, Shiva closely standing by his vahana Nandi. The Sahadeva ratha faces South. In the pillars of the mukhamandapa are found elephants. Elephants are found on both sides of the entrance (dvarapalakas). To the east is a small temple which was perhaps built for Indra. Bhima ratha which is the third one in this series faces West. The peculiarity of this temple is, it has no garbhagriha or sculptures. Perhaps they were left incomplete by the Pallavas for some reason not known to us.

The three-storeyed Dharma-raja ratha is the biggest and most beautiful. It has a large number of sculptures and looks like an open air museum. Perhaps this provided a proto-type for the later South Indian temples. From the inscriptions found in this, it is certain that this was dedicated to Lord Shiva. The beautiful sculpture here is Ardhanareeshwara, half-man and half-woman. The characters are suitably brought about as enunciated in Shilpashastra texts. Among them the most noteworthy are the sculpture of God Ganesha and bhikshatanamurthy etc. Outside Mahabalipuram are two more rathas, Pidari ratha and Valliyankuttai ratha. In front of the latter is the mandapa dedicated to the demon Mahishasura.

In the Krishna mandapa are found various sculptures of Lord Sri Krishna such as his boyhood, Govardhanagiridhari, Gopalaka sculpture in which cow and calf are seen. There is a woman walking with a pot containing curd. One of the cow-herds is playing on flute and the entire group of cow-herd is hearing the flute with rapt attention.

One of the sculptural panels at Mahabalipuram which everyone has to see is named Arjuna's penance. This huge monolithic stone has the sculptures of three worlds namely patala, the earth and the sky. There is a small cleavage which makes the huge monolithic stone into two pieces. Men, women and seers are watching with eagerness what is going to happen in the three worlds. To see this they are running towards this huge boulder. They include Sun, Moon, Yakshas, Gandharvas, Kinnaras, Kimpurushas, Siddha charanas, divine artists etc. In the South is carved forest life. There are many types of wild animals, wild tribes, which are life-like, while one bird is sitting on the tree, the other auda (iguana) is climbing the tree. A monkey is looking at the gathered people with anxiety as to what is going to happen next. A tribal hunter is walking with the day's dead animals which he had hunted.

On the other side is a seer standing on one leg and doing penance. He has closed his eyes and had put both his hands on his head. His face shows that he is thinking of Lord Shiva and completely surrendered to Lord Shiva. By its side is a small temple in which is found a sculpture of Lord Vishnu. All these are shown as if they happened on the banks of a river. This shows the living of men and women on this banks of a river. It is also both enjoyable but if rivers overflow they may cause great commotions including death. All these various moods are beautifully shown on the faces of men, women and seers as well as animals. There is fear in many on the faces of sculptures. Most of these are taken from various puranas and this shows the sculptors had a good knowledge of puranas also.

Almost the entire world of men, women, animals living in water etc., are graphically carved here. For the people living in the sky, the sky seems to be their limit. That is the imagination of the sculptors. Visitors who have admired the Pallava sculptures have admired the Pallava sculptors and architects and compliment them for these skills. They seem to give the impression that they are sculpted by Gods of heaven. These sculptures bring reality to the visitors. A tiger is licking its young ones with great love and a large number of deer are galloping with great speed while a cat is following a seer etc.

Some scholars believe that this huge boulder represents the descent of the Ganga (Gangavatara) while others think that it represents Arjuna's presence to get Pashupatastra from Lord Shiva. Whatever, interpretation one may accept, the sculpture is highly wonderful.

Other caves dedicated to Varaha and Mahishasuramardini have many sculptures. This shows that Pallavas not only carved temples but also built them.

The Shiva temple is one of the great temples at Mahabalipuram. It had a lamp in its garbhagriha. It serves two purposes, namely to show the respect to the God and also show direction to the people who took voyages to this place Finally, who built these temples is important. Many Pallava kings undertook this task, right from Mahendravarma (600 - 630) to Rajsimha II (700 - 728). Whosoever was responsible, deserve our admiration.

Mahabalipuram is a heaven of temples and the Archaeological Survey of India (ASI) is maintaining them well. Hence ASI should be congratulated.

Finally, monuments belong to us and they are our heritage and protecting them is our duty. Let us resolve that we will enjoy their beauty and protect them. Hope the entire world would agree with this statement.

Driven by women inside Mysuru Zoo

Women's Day Message

"Women are in no way less when compared to men. Why compare? Both men and women are equal and are unique in their own way. Even the theme for International Women's Day 2020 is #EachforEqual, recognising all of the actions we can take as individuals to challenge stereotypes, fight prejudice and celebrate women's achievements." — Deepa Kumari & Shabreen Taj

Her vehicle can carry 10 persons and Deepa has to cover the entire 3.5 kilometre route seven to eight times a day during weekends and government holidays when the Zoo is teeming with visitors. During weekdays, she has to take five to six trips.

For each trip, the Zoo charges Rs. 150 per adult and Rs. 90 for senior citizens and children on weekdays and during weekends and holidays, it charges Rs. 180 per adult and Rs. 100 each for children and senior citizens.

Comfortable in driving

"I can comfortably ride a car on city roads. With battery-operated vehicles, the elderly, little children and those pressed for time are able to fully see the Zoo. We are sending a message that these vehicles are eco-friendly, non-polluting and being soundless, they do not stress the animal population. I am proud of driving this vehicle," Deepa says with a broad grin.

The battery-operated vehicle is silent and it can turn in tight corners with effortless ease. The natural tendency of prey animals is to stray to the far side whenever visitors crowd against the railings. But when the viewer is in the vehicle, he or she can view without the animal becoming stressed and moving away.

Three stops

"We have to stop at three points near chimpanzee, snake and crocodile enclosures. This is because to enable the visitors to see the chimps and reptiles. Apart from driving, we also double up as guides, explaining to visitors about the Zoo and the animals. At present, the Zoo houses 1,450 animals of 168 species representing more than 25 countries," Deepa says with her eyes open in wonder.

Agrarian roots

Deepa has to reach work at 8.30 am and she takes a bus from Bannur. Her parents and husband Shivamanchappa are farmers and depend on crops and domesticated animals for a living. "I have a brother who is working in Bengaluru. My entire family is supportive of my job and I am happy that I too contribute to my family income. I want to build a secure future for my family," she says.

She says more than foreign tourists, Indians prefer to go around the Zoo in battery cars. "Communication is not a problem. I speak English and know a bit of Hindi. I am managing even foreign tourists as I am familiar with names of some of the Zoo animals," she says.

Love for the job

Shabreen Taj has been driving another battery car at the Zoo since the last two years. She has completed B.Com from Vani Vilas College at Nazarbad.

She lost her father when she was one year old and her sister is married. She too has to report to work at 8.30 am.

"I have to finish cooking, pack my breakfast and lunch and then head to work. Sometimes it is very challenging but I love this job," she says.

Public appreciation

Even Shabreen has Driving Licence and is comfortable driving a four-wheeler. "Me and Deepa work in close quarters and we both are good friends. Many tourists have told us that we drive very professionally. Ultimately what matters is appreciation from public. Many promise us that they would revisit Zoo and take the battery car," she says with a smile.

Coronavirus scare hits city tourism

C.A. Jayakumar of Travel Parkz said that even bookings for April and May have been cancelled and there is no tourist or industrialist visits. "Many tourists have asked us to put the bookings on hold. Most of the bookings have been cancelled. No one wants to visit abroad at the moment because of the outbreak. Now that the coronavirus cases have been reported in some parts of Europe as well, people are quite scared. The travel industry is facing losses because of outbreak," he revealed.

The scare continues and our governments are not definitely communicating about the disease. Most of the information is spread through social media and as such there is panic. "In the past too, there have been many disease spreads and they did not last beyond a month. This COVID-19 will surely break the tourism backbone," he added.

Srinivas from Bharat International Travels (BIT) said that to and fro tours to many places including Paris, Europe, London, Germany and Italy have been either cancelled or have been put off to a later date. "This is the time when we usually start receiving bookings, but this year, it is not the case. People who already had their tickets booked are requesting cancellation. They are even scared to fly over China," he said.

Sublime Dance and Stellar Dancers

Articulate Festival-50

Mysuru, Mar. 8- Bharatiya Vidya Bhavan (BVB), Mysuru Chapter and Articulate Trust for Arts, jointly held 50th edition of 'Articulate Festival' on Mar. 2, at the Y.T. Thathachari auditorium in BVB premises here.

The evening witnessed Bharatanatyam recitals and a Kathak duet.

Articulate Dance Studios presented Karnataka Kalashree Guru Mysore B. Nagaraj's disciples — Poojashree and Vaidehi, who presented Kathak in four segments.

The two dancers split their allotted time to present both the Hindu and the Islam patronage to the Kathak art.

The Hindu part was represented by a Drupad composition on Goddess Kali and a choreographic work that strung Goswamy Tulasidas' Shiva Stuthi, two select verses from Vedasra Shiva Sthava of Sri Adi Shankaracharya and an ode to Nataraja written by contemporary poet Balwantrai Bhatt.

The first was in Raag Adaana and Taal Teen Taal while the second was in Raag and Taal Malika.

While the opening item was done in duet format, the second was a solo presentation. In their Islam period, a Geeth, based on the swaras that make up the raga Madhuvanthi and the second was a nrutta composition delineating on the various jaathis of the teen taal compositions.

The dancers executed their chosen repertoire with mercurial movement and energetic foot work drawing applause from the rasikas.

What made the presentation more interesting was the costume, Banaras and Awadh, that was befitting to the period that the dancers took the onlookers on a journey of dance history.

Poojitha Bhaskar, disciple of Shakuntala Prabath and now furthering under Parshwanath Upadhyaya, after commencing her act with a Ganesha kouthvam, presented the well-known Varnam Sri Krishna Kamalanatho with such élan and finesse.

This item was juxtaposed with very crisp execution of the nrutta that was perfectly and precisely geometric as the style demanded. Poojitha concluded with a light classical performance to the poetry of Bharathiyar about the rains while breeze blew strongly outside the auditorium heralding the rains that was to come that late night.

The concluding segment was Nagalakshmi Nagarajan's Bharatanatyam. Melaprapti and sthuthi on Vigneshwara in Hamsadhwani raga, set to Adi Tala was her invocatory number. A Krithi of Sri Annamacharya, in khanda chapu tala Hindola raga followed. Nagalakshmi also presented two episodes from Ramayana. It was wonderful to watch the enactment of these lesser know tales from the epic.

The artiste concluded with a Haridasa krithi on Krishna. Sri Purandaradasa's composition "Balakrishnane Baaro" was performed after a ugabhoga written by the same poet.

The packed hall emptied itself with memories of an evening so wonderfully enthralled and spent as curated by Mysore B. Nagaraj.

Indian Fed Cup team creates history

Earns promotion to Play-offs

Dubai, Mar. 8- The Indian Fed cup team yesterday created history by earning a promotion to the Play-offs for the first time ever with Ankita Raina leading the side to 2-1 win over Indonesia, here.

Ankita Raina pulled off a crucial singles win against talented Aldila Sutjiadi to lock the tie 1-1 after Rutuja Bhosale suffered a crushing defeat against an unranked Priska Madelyn Nugroho.

Up against the 16-year-old Indonesian, who is ranked 15th on the ITF junior circuit, Rutuja lost 3-6 6-0 3-6 in one hour and 43 minutes in the opening singles. Ankita, who lost her previous two singles, demolished the challenge of talented Aldila Sutjiadi 6-3 6-3 in the second rubber.

She then combined with seasoned Sania Mirza to beat Sutziyadi and Nugroho 7-6(4) 6-0 to seal India's place in the Play-offs where they will take on either Latvia or the Netherlands in April.

They overcame a sluggish start as they were trailing 1-4 but regrouped to dominate the decisive set.

India finished second in the six-team Group with four wins in a row after losing the opening tie to China, who remained unbeaten in the tournament. Since earning their place back in Asia/Oceania Group I in 2016, India remained in the regional group.

49th National Safety Day held at NIA

Nanjangud, Mar. 8- Nanjangud Industries Association (NIA) conducted the 49th National Safety Day celebrations at its premises here recently. The programme commenced with the Safety Flag hoisting by Prabhakar Rao Shinde, Dy.SP of Nanjangud.

In his address, Shinde mentioned that safety begins right from when you wake up in the morning. While working in the factory atmosphere, usage of safety apparatus is a must to protect oneself. Life is so precious that one cannot show lethargy in following safety aspects. He also stressed on safety measures to be followed while on road and at home. He appreciated the initiative of NIA in celebrating the National Safety Day in a befitting manner. Dipan Biswas, Factory Manager, ITC Limited-Food Division, Thandya Industrial Area, was the chief guest and Dr. K. Anantha Gowda, General Manager- HR and Vice-President of NIA, was the guest of honour.

Dipan Biswas quoted a beautiful story on how children fall if there is no proper training given to them. "In a similar way, the industrial employees are also like children and it is our responsibility to train them properly and make them fully aware of the safety aspects while on the job," he added. 'Work safely and go back home safely' was the message he gave to the workers.

Dr. K. Anantha Gowda spoke about the precautions one has to follow in all walks of life, whether you are in the factory or driving on the road. "It is our behaviour towards the safety which matters a lot in avoiding possible accidents. Accident is nothing but an 'unplanned event' which causes loss by way of injury or in worse situation, death. Hence, use helmets while riding," he urged.

Ramprasad, President, NIA, gave welcome address. Chandrashekar, Secretary, NIA, compeered and said that 50th National Safety Day celebration shall be held in Mysuru on a large scale as a State-level programme.

Desertions not a setback for JD(S): Former CM H.D. Kumaraswamy

Mysuru, Mar. 8 (RK&DM)- Maintaining that desertion by a few leaders is not a setback for JD(S), former Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy said that the party has the support of a strong cadre.

Addressing party workers at Kempegowda Kalyana Mantapa in Manjunathapura here yesterday, Kumaraswamy recalled that party workers and cadres revived the party after many top-ranking leaders left the party in 2008.

Regretting that false news about many JD(S) leaders preparing to leave the party are doing the rounds now, the former CM asked the party workers not to get demoralised by such fake news.

Asserting that the party has successfully stood the tests of time, thanks to the party workers, Kumaraswamy said that party has lakhs of workers across the State and as such, desertions by a few leaders will not hurt the party.

Reacting to former Minister A.H. Vishwanath's criticism over the grand marriage ceremony that the former CM has planned for his son Nikhil, Kumaraswamy referred to the expenditure the ruling BJP had incurred in the recent by-elections.

Claiming that the saffron party spent Rs.60 crore to 100 crore in each Assembly segment for the by-polls held in December last, Kumaraswamy asked Vishwanath whether such a huge spending could be justified in times of economic slowdown.

Stating that he need not learn lessons from anyone, the former CM defended his decision to invite all people who had blessed him and stood by him and his family in politics for decades. He further said that his son Nikhil's wedding in Ramanagara on Apr.17 will also be an occasion to organise and strengthen the JD(S). The party workers will join hands with the family in organising the wedding, he added.

On G.T. Devegowda's future, Kumaraswamy said that he was not in a hurry to take action against the party's MLA from Chamundeshwari, G.T. Devegowda (GTD), who has been repeatedly criticising the JD(S) leadership.

Maintaining that he cannot take a decision on GTD on his own, Kumaraswamy said that he would have to consult other top leaders in the party before taking any action.

Accusing GTD of hobnobbing with BJP leaders, Kumaraswamy said that the Chamundeshwari MLA is known to taking sides with the party that is in power.

He further said that he made a big mistake by making GTD a Minister in the previous Coalition Government headed by him.

Reacting to the resignation of former MLC Ramesh Babu from JD(S), he said his criticism of the party leadership was hardly surprising. It is natural for leaders to criticise the party leadership when they are not given power or positions, he added.

MLAs S.R. Mahesh and Ashwin Kumar, Mayor Tasneem, District JD(S) President Narasimhaswamy, City President K.T. Cheluvegowda, leaders R. Lingappa, Ravikumar, Prema Shankaregowda, K.V. Mallesh, Syed Rahmatullah and others were present.

'KR Circle to have traffic-free corridor for ambulances'

Mysuru, Mar. 8- Assistant Commissioner of Police (Traffic) S.N. Sandesh Kumar said that Traffic Police are considering a proposal to organise a traffic-free corridor at K.R. Circle for ambulances and switch off the 'Left Only' signals at all major junctions in city.

Speaking after holding a Traffic Advisory Committee meeting yesterday, ACP Sandesh Kumar said that Police have taken note of the traffic violations taking place at junctions having 'Left Only' signal and for this reason, Traffic Police are considering a proposal to switch off the 'Left Only' signals at major traffic junctions across the city. As of now, 'Left Only' signals are allowing vehicles travelling to the left side 30 seconds before the signal turns green for vehicles taking right turn and going straight.

"When the Left Only signal turns green, we have noticed that some motorists proceed straight and even take a right by riding in a zig-zag fashion at the junctions, especially at K.R. Circle. The trial will be carried out across all the traffic junctions where four or more roads meet for 15 days", he said.

Meanwhile, some people present at the meeting complained about ongoing Optical Fibre Cables (OFC) laying work across the city, which has left the roads in a bad shape, as a result of which two-wheeler riders are forced to manoeuvre through craters and mud mounds. They also complained about auto drivers not following the traffic rules.

ACP Sandesh Kumar assured to take up necessary measures in this regard and take action against traffic violators.

WORD OF THE DAY

Oleaginous

Pronunciation: oh-lee-AJ-uh-nus

Meaning: Resembling or having the properties of oil : oily; also: containing or producing oil; marked by an offensively ingratiating manner or quality.

Origin: The oily oleaginous slipped into English via Middle French oleagineux, coming from Latin oleagineus, meaning "of an olive tree." Oleagineus itself is from Latin olea, meaning "olive tree," and ultimately from Greek elaia, meaning "olive." Oleaginous was at first used in a literal sense, as it still can be. An oleaginous substance is simply oily, and an oleaginous plant produces oil. The word took on its extended "ingratiating" sense in the 19th century.

Example: The clerk's charm is in the eye of the beholder: where some see a quick smile and ready compliment, others see an oleaginous demeanor.

THE ODD WORD

Obolary

Poor or having only coins of low value in one's possession.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

On the ball

Meaning: To be alert; in command of one's senses.

Origin: 'On the ball' originated in the sporting arena, and alludes to runners being on the balls of their feet, eagerly ready to run a race. A more commonly advocated location for the source of 'on the ball' is the Royal Observatory at Greenwich. This is where the oldest surviving and best known time-ball is sited. The Greenwich time-ball was installed in 1833 to signal the accurate time to passing ships. It was, and still is, raised just before 1 pm each day and falls as 1 pm strikes on the observatory's clock. Captains needed to have their ships' chronometers set accurately in order to navigate correctly, hence they needed to be 'on the ball'. The phrase 'on the ball' did actually originate in the sporting arena, but relates to the eyes rather than the feet. It is a contraction of the earlier expression 'keep your eye on the ball', which advice has been given to participants in virtually every known ball game.

Example: She really is on the ball; she's bought houses at auctions so she knows what she's doing.
